ART: Guy Regal & Studio Greytak Present The Universe Collection

With a company motto of, 'A Million Years In The Making', there is considerable anticipation for the final reveal of what could possibly be worth waiting that long for. This year Studio Greytak is unveiling their Universe Collection that is nothing short of impactful, in every sense of the word. Dramatic and reminiscent of exploding stars and intergalactic collisions, the Universe Collection is like an artistic freeze-frame of cosmic proportions. Harnessing our own Earth born gems and minerals for an out of this world sculptural experience.

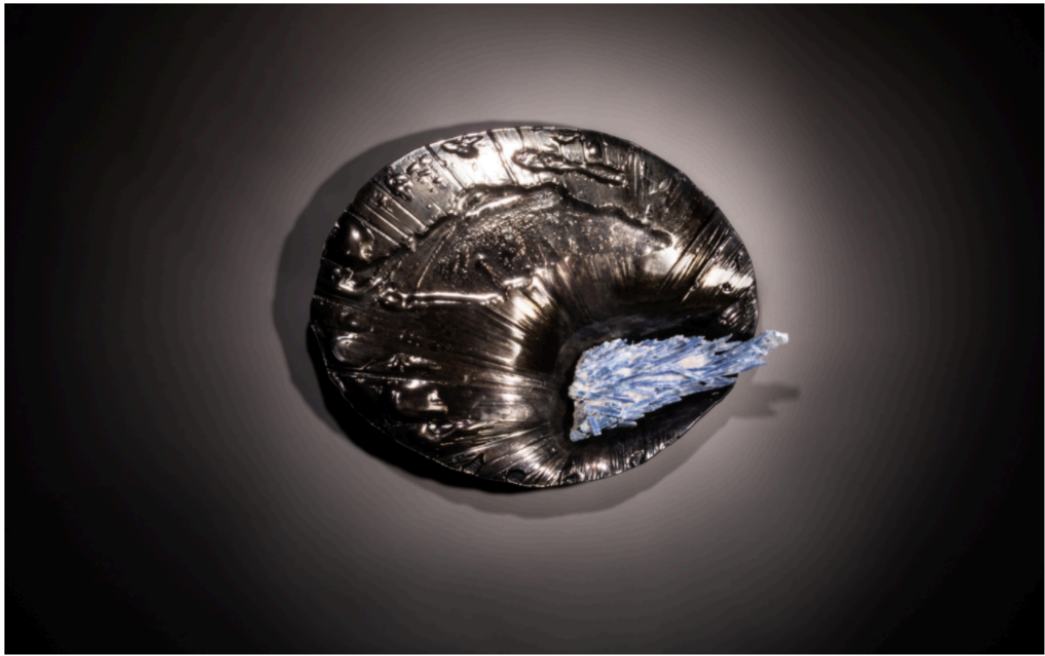

STUDIO GREYTAK – JUPITER

Guy Regal NYC, a dealer of fine art, furniture and decorative designs, is hosting this remarkable curated collection. As you walk through the space your eye is drawn to the fabulous furnishings and lighting moments that are unlike any other. The styling of the exhibition is the work of Todd Raymond, Principal of Studio Todd Raymond, who designed special vignettes to showcase each piece.

The singular uniqueness of the collection is made possible by the vision and leadership of the owner of Studio Greytak, John Greytak, who searches all around the world for some of the most remarkable specimens to bring back home to Montana where he and his craftsmen design each item. They handcraft in mediums of metal and glass, all while using the jewelers eye to work with the rarest gems and bring their visions to life.

Many of the pieces, though designed for spaces here on Earth, can very easily be imagined to be comfortably at home on a stardeck of the not too distant future as pioneers such as Jeff Bezos and Sir Richard Branson, shoot for the stars in a very real way. One would not be surprised to find some of the one-of-a-kind pieces to be gracing a few of their moon based offices.
