Holiday House NYC

December 5, 2022

Founded by interior designer and breast cancer survivor Iris Dankner in 2008, Holiday House NYC is an interior design show house in which top interior designers and lifestyle brands can showcase their talent. All proceeds from Holiday House events benefit the Breast Cancer Research Foundation.

“Holiday House is a time for talented designers of all styles to come together to showcase their work, while contributing to a great cause that holds deeply in my heart,” said Dankner. “Every year I get the pleasure of meeting and showcasing the thoughtful talents of some of the best designs in the world and this year was no different. Sitting with the designers before to understand their style, I was able to create two very different apartments – one with more eclectic designs and one showcasing a neutral design, for all to enjoy and find what style they are drawn to the most!”

Located on the Upper East Side of Manhattan, Holiday House is open through December 11.
